Reading Comprehension

Current Level of Performance

34 CFR 300.320(a)(1)

1. Strengths of the student in this Skill Area:

34 CFR 300.324(a)(i)

Eric is able to read grade level material fluently. He is able to answer comprehension questions that are concrete in nature, such as "who" or "what" questions.

2. Parental concerns for enhancing student's education in this Skill Area:

34 CFR 300.324(a)(1)(ii)

Mr. and Mrs. G. are concerned that Eric isn't able to understand what he has read. They report that when he does his homework, he becomes very frustrated with tasks that ask him to make inferences or predictions about what might happen next.

3. How the student's disability affects the student's involvement and progress in the general curriculum and participation in appropriate activities in this Skill Area:

34 CFR 300.320(a)(1)(i)

Eric's difficulty comprehending what he reads and expressing his thoughts causes him to shut down in class and avoid tasks that require him to answer questions based on what he has read. He will tell his teacher he can't do it, or just refuse to complete assignments, which causes him to have multiple missing or late assignments. He has difficulty keeping up with the pace of the classroom as he needs a significantly longer period of time to process information and complete given tasks. His reading comprehension also impacts his understanding in other academic areas such as social studies and science.

 Annual Goal

1. Student Need:

34 CFR 300.324(a)(1)(iv)

Eric needs to be able to comprehend grade level text and to answer non-literal questions about text he has read.

Placement Considerations

- ☒ Yes ☐ No Is this placement based on the student's educational needs documented in this IEP? 34 CFR 300.114
- ☐ Yes ☒ No Is the student able to be satisfactorily educated in the general education environment for the entire school day? 34 CFR 300.114
- Rationale for removing of the student from the general education environment:*
- Eric requires explicit, intensive instruction in reading comprehension and social skills. This type of instruction would be disruptive to the general education classroom and it would be difficult for Eric to stay focused. Social skills instruction within the classroom would not be appropriate due to the use of structured teaching sessions and role playing activities.*
- ☒ Yes ☐ No If removal from the regular environment is necessary, is it based on the nature and severity of the student's disability and not the need for modifications in the general curriculum? 34 CFR 300.114(a)(2)(ii)
- ☒ Yes ☐ No Is the educational placement as close as possible to the student's home? 34 CFR 300.116(b)(3)
- ☒ Yes ☐ No Is the educational placement in the school the student would attend if the student did not have a disability? 34 CFR 300.116(c)
- ☒ Yes ☐ No Did the IEP team consider any potential harmful effect of the educational placement? 34 CFR 300.116(d)
- ☒ Yes ☐ No Does the student have the opportunity to participate in extracurricular and nonacademic events with nondisabled students? 34 CFR 300.117

D. The following options were considered and rejected because:

34 CFR 300.503(b)(6)

The team discussed continuing to have Eric participate in the social skills group with the counselor, but rejected as he requires more intensive instruction than is available within the group. The team discussed providing Eric's reading comprehension instruction in the general education setting, but rejected this option because Eric has anxiety about missing out on what is happening in the classroom if he is in the same room. He isn't able to stay focused on the small group instruction with other instruction happening nearby.
